FIVE SMALLPOX CASES FOUND IN WEST END

Victims, All Colored, Hurried to County Hospital by Health Authorities.

CAME HERE FROM BLACKSTONE

None of the Patients Had Been Vaccinated—Fear Other Cases May Be Reported.

Five cases of confluent smallpox discovered yesterday morning were yesterday rushed to the city smallpox hospital, not one of the patients, all of whom are colored, ever having been vaccinated. At least three have passed the critical stage of the disease and are on the road to recovery. How many persons have been near them while they have been sick, it is impossible to determine, and although vaccinators were at once put to work in the neighborhood, there is every probability that further cases will develop notwithstanding the prompt and vigorous efforts of the part of the Health Department and the attending physician.

Already the source of the infection has been traced to Blackstone, where one of the patients claims there is smallpox among the negroes.

State Department Notified.

That the disease has appeared at various points along the Norfolk and Western Railway recently is known to the State Health Department, which yesterday issued a special vaccination warning for all of Eastern Virginia, this action having been taken before the five Richmond cases came to light.

As there have been but three cases of smallpox in Richmond in more than a year, the discovery of five at once, with the possibility of the spread of infection from two points, was somewhat alarming to health officials, whose action was prompt and decisive.

Yesterday morning Dr. R. E. Jones, a colored physician, was called to attend Sallie Perkins, colored, three years old, at 544 Gilmer Street, in the West End, and he at once reported to the Health Department that the child was suffering from smallpox.

The child's mother shows an old vaccination scar on her arm, and the child was vaccinated baby, and all three were hurried to the smallpox hospital under charge of Dr. Isaac Cud.

Investigation by Medical Inspector Foster and Chief Health Officer Levy developed that Alice Chamberlayne, colored, formerly of Blackstone, had been living for some time at 544 Gilmer Street, until about two weeks ago, when she moved to 923 William Street.

About the first of May Alice's three children came here from Blackstone. Alice has been twice married, and the children bear the name of Giammer. Nine or ten days after their arrival in Richmond the oldest child, Sallie Giammer, ten years of age, broke out with smallpox. A week later, about May 17, Willie Giammer, aged eight years, became ill, and then Cutler Giammer, aged five years. With the three children sick in the house, about a week ago, the mother, Alice Chamberlayne, became infected.

Meanwhile she had moved with her sick children to 923 William Street. None of these cases was reported to the Health Department, or has been under the treatment of any physician, and the discovery seems to have been almost accidental.

Yesterday Lillie Perkins, colored, three years old, living at 544 Gilmer Street, where the Chamberlayne women formerly lived, was taken ill and Dr. Jones was called. His prompt report to the Board of Health started the chain of investigation which showed the four other cases on William Street.

hospital, as they had been sleeping in the same room with the child. This is a larger number than we have had in the hospital in years. I do not think there is cause for undue alarm, but there should be prompt vaccination, and especially all white people should see to it that their servants, nurses, washerwomen and others with whom they come in contact are vaccinated, as it is impossible to say at this juncture how far the contagion has spread through the colored quarter. We will do everything we can to check it by vaccination, but the lack of any report on these cases gives the disease a long start on us."

Health Commissioner's Warning.

State Health Commissioner Williams issued a special bulletin of warning on smallpox yesterday, saying that the disease exists in a dangerous form in Tidewater Virginia.

"We are not so much alarmed at the prevalence of the disease," said Mr. Williams, "as at its virulent form. The smallpox now in Eastern Virginia is the worst known in many years. It has caused a considerable mortality. As long as people neglect to vaccinate their children, we must expect that smallpox will become more and more virulent. Unless the situation is improved, compulsory vaccination will be demanded in a number of counties."

OVERCOME BY HEAT

Junius Lawson, Head Waiter in Sparks' Cafe, Is Prostrated by Heat.

Junius Lawson, colored, of 1019 North Fourth Street, was overcome by the heat at Sparks' cafe, on Broad Street, yesterday morning. He was apparently in good health when he started to work, but later was seen to reel and sink in a chair. He died ten minutes later. Dr. Caballero, of the city ambulance corps, was called, but it was too late to do any good. Coroner Taylor decided that death was due to the heat.

Lawson was employed as head waiter in the cafe, and was noted for his politeness and willingness.

Henrico County Cases.

Lynn Pysan, colored, appeared in the Magistrate's Court in Henrico county yesterday morning on a charge of stealing chickens from D. A. Shepherd, who had been retained by the case against Norman Brooks (colored), charged with stealing spikes about six months ago, was made an advisory capacity. No complaint was registered against any of the men, and the election of the squad was unanimous. The list of the men re-appointed to the board.

The case against Dyce Inglehart (white), charged with stealing a box from Robert Canfield, will be heard this morning.

Chamber of Commerce Committee on Municipal Affairs Indorses Proposed Railway.

MANY SPEAK IN OPPOSITION

Seven-Year-Old Street Railway Company Promises to Build Promptly.

After hearing a number of speeches on both sides of the proposition, the committee on municipal affairs of the Chamber of Commerce last night decided to recommend to the board of directors of that body the request of the Richmond and Henrico Railway Company for an extension of its franchise until July 1, 1910.

The petition of the company, which was organized seven years ago to build a street railway and viaduct connecting Shockoe and Church Hills, pending before the Committee on Streets, the action taken last night being purely of an advisory nature. The resolution adopted indorses the petition for the extension of the franchise, provided the interests of the city are properly safeguarded, and that the highway at Marshall and Twenty-first Streets be opened at the expense of the company.

James Caslie presided at the meeting. The first speech in favor of the petition was made by S. L. Kelley, counsel for the company, and one of its stockholders.

Mr. Kelley pointed out the difficulties under which the company had labored, and the fact that it had been in a financial straits, though he said it was now in good shape, having made arrangements with a strong Canadian concern to put up the money for the building of the road.

City Ample Protected.

Mr. Kelley declared that the new ordinance he had proposed as to give the city ample protection from every standpoint, and his associates were ready to accept any reasonable amendments which might be suggested. He called attention to the fact that the city now has $100,000 deposited within sixty days to insure the company's money, and that the work should be extended to begin within ninety days, the franchise would, by the terms of the new ordinance, become void and of no effect.

John J. Blake, who resides in the East End, spoke in favor of the extension, saying that in his district 95 per cent. of the people in that section desired to see the viaduct built. He said that the same ground, appealing to the committee to extend the request for an extension of time.

Many in Opposition.

Councilman E. H. Ferguson, of Lee Ward, said that he favored the building of a viaduct, though he would not vote for the proposed extension unless he could be assured that the extension was in earnest about building it. R. H. Hardesty said he wanted a viaduct, though he did not want to wait 100 days for it. He therefore opposed the request for an extension of time.

A. Beaver wanted the city to take hold of the matter. It was on this ground that he opposed the extension. Marshall Boyle said that practically the same view, adding that he was strenuously opposed to the toll feature. The extension was advocated by Dr. R. H. Hardesty, who said that the city should be free to act without any suggestion from the chamber.

After a brief speech in favor of the proposition by John C. Hagan, one of the officers of the company, the committee adopted the resolution set out above.

W. E. Hardy (Colored) Charged With Stealing and Injuring Street Car Man.

W. E. Hardy (colored) was arrested last night for striking and injuring the conductor of the Seventeenth Street line in the head with a stone.

It was charged that the negro asked the conductor to get out of his way, and was knocking down fares. He became so offensive with the remarks that he at last put Hardy off the car, and the latter, who had been retained by the case, afterwards stated that he had been employed to watch conductors. The conductor was badly injured, and was taken to the car to the end of the route.

Baths Open Later.

Travelers See Sketch in Vaudeville House and Are Reminded of Justice Crutchfield.

So far has his fame traveled through the world that even in London is Justice Crutchfield known and remembered, for yesterday he received a letter from Thomas Nelson Page, the author, asking him to appear in a sketch showing an old Virginia judge in one of London's biggest vaudeville houses, where he had been retained by the case.

As a matter of fact, though, this play had its origin in a type taken from Justice J. D. G. Brown, of Newport News. Walter Kelly, a former saloon-keeper, was once taken on the stage as a "supper" to take the part of a Virginia judge. He copied Justice Crutchfield's name from a list of great men in London, and it is probable that few theatre-goers in that city have not seen a real type of a magistrate as he is known in Virginia.

Bridge Question to Be Considered Along With Consolidation Plan.

HEAR MANCHESTER FIRST

Joint Meeting Called for Tuesday Night for Purpose of Getting in Line.

Consolidation of Richmond and Manchester will be taken up by special committees from the Councils of the two cities on Tuesday night, when a joint meeting to map out the future work of the committees will be held at the Richmond City Hall.

There was no quorum last night of the joint committee from the two cities on repairing or replacing the Free Bridge, only two of the Manchester members venturing across. Chairman R. F. Pollard, Jr., called another meeting of the committee for Tuesday night, when it is expected that a recommendation will be made that the whole question of the bridge be forwarded to the Committee on Consolidation, as a constituent part of that problem, and that the special Bridge Committee be disbanded.

City Attorney Pollard has given an opinion to the effect that the two committees on consolidation must sit separately, so far as recorded proceedings are concerned, instead of in joint sessions, as was the case when negotiations were pending some years ago for the union of the cities. The two committees, however, may sit together as a committee of the whole, for conference or discussion, going into separate sessions for formal action.

Will Avoid End Trouble.

When committees on consolidation were named several years ago, and the prospect for union seemed bright, the Richmond delegates made a proposal embodying a series of improvements which the city would guarantee in the event of union. Manchester then submitted a counter-proposition, asking a number of other conditions, some of which were agreed to and some refused. Even as it was, the better obtained, and the record shows that the two bodies could have got together on a plan of consolidation, had not the officeholders of Manchester insisted on impossible conditions, and the Council of that city instructed its committee to include terms which the Richmond members would not consider.

This time, in order to avoid the same rock of dissension, the Richmond committee will ask the Manchester members to submit a scheme of consolidation, which the Richmond committee will take in hand and modify. The action of a new bridge will be the first clause in the contract of union, and the next will be the expenditure of a bond issue of a certain percentage of the taxable values of Manchester in street improvements. The Manchester committee will, of course, be carried on the pay rolls for the full time for which they have been elected or appointed, and will be given the preference in the naming of police, fire, school and various other departments, which will continue to operate in the city until the river. The rock on which the committee split before was the insistence of the Manchester City Council on the maintenance on the south side of the river of a court of record as a branch of the Hastings Court of the city, which would have meant that court employees might maintain their lucrative positions.

TYPHOID PATIENT SENT TO RETREAT

Charitable Women Take Care of Man for Whom City Makes No Provision.

Charitable women of Richmond yesterday made provision for the man suffering from typhoid fever, whose case was discussed yesterday in Times-Dispatch by the board of managers of the Retreat for the Sick, under the leadership of Miss Mary Norwood, making arrangements for his removal to that institution, where he is now receiving the best of treatment. His removal from the boarding-house room was accomplished yesterday morning by use of an ambulance without serious setback, although the young man had a slight hemorrhage in his room before removal. The boarding-house manager said that three other men slept in the same room.

Yesterday afternoon a charitable inclined woman called at The Times-Dispatch office, offering to contribute to the care of the sick man. She was referred to his physician, and found that arrangements had already been made for his treatment at the Retreat for the Sick.

At the Sheltering Arms Hospital it was said that the man had not been refused admission on any question of pay, as no application had been made. This is an entirely charitable hospital, in which no pay patients are received. Every bed is reported full, however, the matron saying that there were babies sleeping in bureau drawers for beds, the institution being taxed to its capacity, notwithstanding its lack of endowment and its small margin of contributions.

The hospital will close for six weeks beginning in July, following its usual custom.

OPEN TILDEN STREET

Annexed Territory Committee Provides for Improvement.

On petition of Councilman T. Francis Green, who represented the Lee Annex Corporation, the Council Committee on Apportionment of Funds in the Annexed Territory last night set apart $2,000 for the grading and graveling of Tilden Street, from Grove Avenue to the Boulevard, and the company to donate all the land necessary to open the street to a width of fifty feet. The street will be the first of a series of streets to be opened in the annexed territory, and will open to building a large section in the line of other city improvements.

Fire in Blacksmith Shop.

An alarm of fire was turned in last night from 511 West Broad Street, where, in the blacksmith shop of John Fraser, sparks from the force had ignited the floor. There was no damage, and the blaze was extinguished with chemicals.

Virginia Railway and Power Company to Be Official Title Hereafter.

TAKE CONTROL ON JUNE 30

Henry W. Anderson Declares That Property Will Be Greatly Developed.

Hearings relative to the transfer of the Virginia Passenger and Power Company properties to the new purchaser, of whom Frank Jay Gould is the head, will be conducted by Judge Edmund Waddill, Jr., of the United States District Court, on June 12. It is expected that certain orders completing all formalities will be entered at that time. The new securities will be placed on sale as soon thereafter as practicable.

It is the plan of the purchasers to assume control on June 30, and thereafter the corporation will be known as the Virginia Railway and Power Company. Prior to the actual time of the transfer, an application for a new charter will be made to the Corporation Commission, in which the new operators will give some knowledge of what changes are expected to be made.

Plans Not Complete.

"Our plans are at present incomplete," said Henry W. Anderson, counsel for its owners, yesterday, "and it would not be well to discuss them minutely at this time. There may be changes. The present power system will be greatly increased, and several hundred thousand dollars will be expended in completing the proposed improvements. I cannot say, at this time, that new lines will be built."

"We expect to have Richmond even better accommodations along the lines of street railway service than she enjoys to-day, although I do not hesitate to say that, for a city of its size, Richmond is as well equipped in this respect as any other in the country. Many men will be given employment on the work, and an inestimable benefit will be done the city. No expense will be spared in perfecting the accomplishment of the arrangements."

Mr. Anderson left the city last night, and will be absent for several days. The matter of the transfer of the rail-way properties will be the first to engage his attention when he returns, and he promises to have every detail prepared before the end of the month. "It is not our idea to keep the public in ignorance of what we propose to do," he said, "and I will give out information as soon as I am prepared to do so."

QUIT CITY COMMITTEE

Campodonico and Thompson Retire; R. R. Florence Elected.

The City Democratic Committee met at Murphy's Hotel last night. The session was a brief one, no business of importance having been disposed of. It was decided to receive the returns from the primary on the night of June 24 at Sanger Hall. The officers of the committee will meet at the office of Clyde W. Saunders on June 10, from 10 to 12 o'clock, to receive the fees of candidates who may not settle with the treasurer in the meantime. R. R. Florence was elected a member of the committee from the Ward 4 district. Mr. S. H. Shear resigned. The resignations of E. A. Campodonico, of Jefferson, and F. B. Thompson, of Henry, were received, though their successors were not elected.

The First District recovered stolen property amounting to $88.30, and the Second District, stolen property amounting to $55, making a total for the two districts of $143.30.

THRILLING SCENE AS AUDIENCE GAVE SALUTE

Officer Takes Infant Boy Two Weeks Old from Behind Storm Door at City Home.

Though they failed to hear the gentle tapping of the first visitor of the night, the family of D. C. Shepherd, of 22 West Marshall Street, were later aroused by the loud alarm of a police officer, who shortly before 2 o'clock yesterday morning awoke them to ask the privilege of taking a baby which had been left at their front door to the City Home.

The child, a boy about two weeks old, was first seen by a neighbor, who was summoned assistance for her husband, who had been taken ill. An officer opened her own door, saw some one jump from Mr. Shepherd's porch and disappear in the darkness in the direction of Broad Street. He thought evidently that the baby was in good hands, and that it would never need his protection any more. The neighbor called her brother-in-law, who made an investigation, finding that the child had been carefully placed inside the storm door.

He notified the police, without awakening Mr. Shepherd's family, but the officer refused to take the baby away until he had seen Mr. Shepherd. The infant was taken inside. He was well dressed, and a neat bundle of clothes, wrapped in a Norfolk paper, had been left by his side. He seemed surprised to see so many strange faces and to see himself such an object of interest, but made no complaint. He took all the noise and fuss like a veteran, calmly uttering a few "ba-bas," which, translated, meant that he didn't care much.

After he had been fussed over and loved up the stalwart officer took him up in his strong arms and placed him in the city ambulance—his first perambulator. He was described as a fine-looking boy, and is said to be doing well at the home.

Many Calls for Ambulance.

Dr. Caballero, of the city ambulance corps, received fifteen calls for assistance yesterday, but the majority of them were only of trifling importance. He was called to treat Gladys Thomas, a small girl living at 2104 Taylor Street, who had fallen and fractured one of her arms. He turned her over to her family physician.

Joseph Sweyer was prostrated with the heat in a tobacco factory at Eleventh and Cary Streets, and was treated and taken home.

Dr. Paglin to Speak.

Dr. M. D. Paglin, of New York, will give an address on Sunday evening at 7 o'clock at St. Moses Montefiore Synagogue, on Eleventh Street, on "Judaism and Americanism." Dr. Paglin is a graduate of the Harvard University, and was last year a student of medicine in Baltimore. He has been a contributor to many of the leading medical journals.

His address will be open to the public.

Great Crowd in Auditorium Waved Handkerchiefs and Cheered Bernthaier.

THEN BAND PLAYED DIXIE

Midsummer Festival's "Big Night" Best of Week—Comes to Close This Evening.

"Grand Opera Night" last evening scored another great success for the Midsummer Festival, and delighted the audience which assembled in the Auditorium, enthusiastic and sympathetic, as it has been throughout the festival program. Mr. Radcliffe came forward after the rendition of Meyerbeer's "Coronation March" by the Pittsburgh Orchestra, and asked those present to rise to their feet and give the Chausson salute by waving their handkerchiefs, in recognition of the splendid work of Mr. Bernthaier and his orchestra of twenty-five. Instant response brought the whole house to its feet, with handkerchiefs raised and waving like white plumes. Mr. Bernthaier bowed his thanks, and the orchestra played "Semiramide," and after a short intermission, the orchestra and Martin sang with excellent effect a trio from "Faust."

The sensation of the evening was the numbers rendered by Mr. James, whose unusually fine tenor voice created a wonderful impression and won him a splendid ovation. Indeed, the orchestra played with the greatest spirit and animation through the remainder of the program, in which Miss Hussey and Mr. Martin were heard in solo work, and Misses Hinkle and Hussey and Messrs. Strong and Martin sang together a selection from Verdi's "Rigoletto."

Following a second announcement from Mr. Radcliffe in regard to next evening's concert, came the pleasant news that the male quartet, Mr. James, Mr. Martin, Dr. Jackson and Dr. Duff, would favor the audience. They came forward and welcomed them cordially and heard with the greatest pleasure in several beautiful and catchy ballads.

The performance of the sextet, Misses Hussey and Mr. Martin, Dr. Jackson and Dr. Duff, made a most beautiful and crowning finish as a closing number. Every voice seemed to be in perfect harmony, and the program was very fine in selection and execution. The realization of a week of unalloyed enjoyment, mingled with regret that it has drawn to its close. The evidence brought out was that the night performance beginning at 8:30 o'clock.

The singers were all in splendid voice and must certainly have been complimented at the ovation they received. The program was very fine in selection and execution. The realization of a week of unalloyed enjoyment, mingled with regret that it has drawn to its close. The evidence brought out was that the night performance beginning at 8:30 o'clock.

WALTER BLACHBURN CLEARED

Walter Blachburn, an employee of the dog-catching department, was dismissed in Police Court yesterday morning on the charge of having shot and killed Bow, the nine-year-old son of Harvey Bow, of Fulton. Counter warrants against the Bows were also dismissed. The evidence brought out was that the boy quarreled with Blachburn when the latter caught a dog belonging to him. Blachburn was said to have shot the dog, and Blachburn shook the child severely, but he and a witness denied this. The dog-catcher was represented by Assistant City Attorney Anderson.

Frank G. Fitzhugh, colored, charged with throwing stones at an Oakwood Hotel, charged with having shot and killed a dog, was also dismissed. The evidence brought out was that the boy quarreled with Blachburn when the latter caught a dog belonging to him. Blachburn was said to have shot the dog, and Blachburn shook the child severely, but he and a witness denied this. The dog-catcher was represented by Assistant City Attorney Anderson.
